AH office expansion finally finished

by CHAD INGRAM
Times Staff

More than a year after its initial completion target date, an expansion of the Algonquin Highlands township office on North Shore Road is complete.

For the first time in nearly a year and a half, council met in council chambers, located in the office building, for its Oct. 19 meeting.

Since the spring of 2016, meetings have been held at the nearby Stanhope Firefighters' Community Hall, as displaced staff used council chambers as work space.

Council awarded the contract for the project – which included a 124-square metre addition and renovations to the building – to Woodbridge's Miram Building Corp. in April of 2016, for a price of $580,000.

However, in the fall of 2016, the contractor defaulted on the job.

"The original contractor last year advised they were unable to finish the work," Mayor Carol Moffatt wrote in an email to the paper. "Municipal projects of this size are always handled through a bonding company in case anything goes awry, such as the contractor being unable to complete the job. So the bonding company had to go through a formal process of assessing the work completed/not completed, write and issue a new tender, and so on. The new company had to pick up on the partially-completed work of the original contractor and there were a number of challenges."

Wardens talk internet with premier

by CHAD INGRAM
Times Staff

Members of the Eastern Ontario Wardens' Caucus (EOWC) met with Premier Kathleen Wynne at Queen's Park last week and Haliburton County Warden Brent Devolin told the paper the mobile broadband expansion project by the Eastern Ontario Regional Network was a major topic of discussion.

The wardens' caucus is comprised of the wardens of 13 municipalities and Devolin said the wardens, some of their staff, MPPs as well as Infrastructure Minister Bob Chiarelli were present for the meeting at the provincial legislature on Oct. 19.

"It was primarily her listening," Devolin said of the premier.

It is anticipated that a project to fill mobile broadband service gaps throughout Eastern Ontario will cost some $300 million. Constructing towers to connect homes and businesses throughout the area to wireless, high-speed internet is expected to cost about $212 million. A secure network for first responders is expected to cost $113, and if the projects are combined to share towers, it's anticipated the combined price tag would be about $280 million.

EORN, owned by the EOWC, has applied for provincial and federal funding for the project, and Devolin said he was "cautiously optimistic" about the success of those funding applications after last week's meeting.

Minden area manhunt ends in arrest

by CHAD INGRAM
Times Staff

A manhunt by police last week ended in the arrest of a local man.

According to the Haliburton Highlands OPP, just after 4:30 p.m. on Oct. 17, while conducting a traffic stop along South Lake Road outside Minden, an officer attempted to arrest a 27-year-old man on an outstanding criminal matter. After a confrontation in which the officer was allegedly assaulted, the man fled on foot. A manhunt involving the OPP's emergency response team and canine unit ensued and on Oct. 19, the police sent out a press release and photo of the man, requesting the public's assistance in locating him.

Later that day, the man was arrested without incident at a residence in Dysart et al.

The man is charged with resisting arrest, five counts of failing to comply with probation, and possession of marijuana.

The police thanked the public and local media for their assistance.

11 Critical Home Inspection Traps to be Aware of Weeks Before Listing Your Haliburton Highlands Home or Cottage for Sale

Haliburton - According to industry experts, there are over 33 physical problems that will come under scrutiny during a home inspection when your home is for sale. A new report has been prepared which identifies the eleven most common of these problems, and what you should know about them before you list your home for sale.

Whether you own an old home or a brand new one, there are a number of things that can fall short of requirements during a home inspection. If not identified and dealt with, any of these 11 items could cost you dearly in terms of repair. That's why it's critical that you read this report before you list your home. If you wait until the building inspector flags these issues for you, you will almost certainly experience costly delays in the close of your home sale or, worse, turn prospective buyers away altogether. In most cases, you can make a reasonable pre-inspection yourself if you know what you're looking for, and knowing what you're looking for can help you prevent little problems from growing into costly and unmanageable ones.

To help homesellers deal with this issue before their homes are listed, a free report entitled "11 Things You Need to Know to Pass Your Home Inspection" has been compiled which explains the issues involved.

To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report call toll-free (800) 611-8516 and enter 1003. You can call any time, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Get your free special report NOW to learn how to ensure a home inspection doesn't cost you the sale of your home.

Eastern Ontario project could be beta test

It's clear, Devolin said, that the budget for the project could not be contained within one ministry, but could be borne across a number of ministries, such as the ministries of infrastructure, transportation and health.

Devolin told the paper provincial reps seem impressed by EORN's business plan.

"I get the feeling the EORN project could be a sort of beta test for them," he said.

EORN has been approached by reps from regions of New Brunswick and Alberta to work on similar projects.

Devolin brought up the interruption of fibre internet and telephone lines that occurred in Haliburton County last week as an example of the fragility of rural systems.

"There was acknowledgment from her that in rural areas, we have to have backup," he said of Wynne's response.

There is an estimated infrastructure gap – a shortfall of money needed to repair infrastructure that has come to the end of its lifespan – of approximately $5 billion a year in Ontario. As a result, the Association of Municipalities of Ontario was advocating a jump in HST from 13 to 14 per cent, that extra percentage point – the equivalent of about $2.5 billion a year – to be earmarked specifically for municipal infrastructure.

That idea was rejected by the province at the AMO conference in August, and Devolin said there wasn't much progress on that issue at last week's meeting.

"We heard loud and clear at AMO that the infrastructure solutions we had were a no-go," he said.

Devolin said it's obvious there is a provincial election on the horizon, noting that normally, the premier herself would not have been present at the EOWC meeting.

"We're solidly in election mode," he said, adding he gets the feeling the Liberal party's election platform is largely in place, but said government reps weren't tipping their hands on what sort of policy details it might contain.

"The wardens' caucus is a wonderful thing," Devolin said, adding it allows small communities to speak together in a unified voice. "So we can punch well above our weight, in terms of things we need to do here in the county."

lenges – and subsequent delays, with that. It's always tough to pick up where someone else left off."

Moffatt indicated that, despite the delays, the project did not go over budget.

"There were a lot of frayed nerves and frustration but thankfully, no over-runs or additional costs borne by the township," she wrote.

She thanked township staff members for their patience throughout the process.

"To say it's been a frustrating experience would be an understatement," Moffatt wrote. "Staff members were displaced for months on end, with up to four people working in various corners of the council chambers in a cobbled-together workspace. Once staff were back into their usual or new workspaces, the public had to come in the back door and wind their way through the council chambers to the front counter. We have terrific staff, though, and they soldiered through and made the best of it so I have to say an enormous thanks to them."

Along with the addition, renovations to the building include reconfigured, accessible washrooms; a reconfigured foyer and office space; a new, timber-frame front entranceway; and ramp.

The township is planning to have a public open house for residents to view the updated facility, but a date has not yet been set.

Report illegal tobacco, health unit urges

If there's something strange (about tobacco) in your neighbourhood, who you gonna call? Tobacco busters.

The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit is encouraging local residents to report the illegal sale or supply of tobacco products to underage teenagers. If anyone sees or knows of these situations, they can call the health unit toll-free at 1-866-888-4577, ext. 1289 or ext. 3226. People who report these situations to the health unit can do so on an anonymous basis.

The Smoke-Free Ontario Act makes it illegal for anyone to sell or supply tobacco products to those under the age of 19 years in Ontario. Last year, the Electronic Cigarette Act also came into effect, prohibiting the sale or supply of e-cigarettes to anyone less than 19 years of age.

The health unit is responsible for enforcing both provincial laws in Haliburton County, Northumberland County and the City of Kawartha Lakes.

"Tobacco is a highly-addictive product, so the law is in place to protect the health of young people by ensuring that underage teenagers do not have ready access to it," says Lorne Jordan, a tobacco control officer with the HKPR District Health Unit. "We encourage people to help ensure deadly tobacco products do not end up in the hands of minors by calling us if they know of cases where this is happening."

HALLOWEEN SAFETY TIPS FROM THE MINDEN HILLS FIRE DEPARTMENT

1. Choose safer alternatives for lighting, such as battery operated candles, flashlights and glow sticks, instead of candles for carved pumpkins and other Halloween decorations.
2. If hosting a party for your "Ghosts and Goblins", be sure everyone knows your home escape plan in the event of a fire, and a meeting place outside. If your children are going to a party, have them ask the host about their home escape plan so they can plan on how to get out safely in an emergency.
3. Teach children their home address and phone number and how to call 9-1-1 in case of an emergency.

AH OPP bill jumps to $1 million

by CHAD INGRAM
Times Staff

The following are brief reports of items discussed during an Oct. 19 meeting of Algonquin Highlands council.

Algonquin Highlands' OPP costs will increase by more than $106,000, bringing the township's 2018 policing bill to approximately $1.07 million.

2018 marks the fourth year of a five-year phase-in of a billing formula that redistributes OPP expenses throughout Ontario, qualifying seasonal residences as households. Thus, each of Haliburton County's four lower-tier townships have seen significant increases in their OPP costs since 2015.

This year's increase of $106,000 is smaller than the increases Algonquin Highlands has experienced the past few years. The 2017 increase was nearly $225,000 and in 2016, $237,000.

This year's $106,000 jump represents an 11 per cent increase in the township's OPP bill, and equates to 2.2 per cent of the township's general tax levy.

"It still hurts, but it's better than the five and a half [per cent levy increase] last year," said treasurer Tammy McKelvey.

"Sadly, we see 2.2 as good news," said Mayor Carol Moffatt, referring to years of substantial increases.

During the phase-in of the formula, the collective OPP bill for the county's four municipalities is doubling from approximately $3 million to approximately $6 million.

VOIP provides phone savings

Switching to an internet-based phone system could save the township 56 per cent on its phone bill, or about $14,000 a year.

A staff report from chief administrative officer Angie Bird indicated that switching township analog lines over to voice over implementation (VOIP) technology, which provides voice calling over the internet, could result in substantial annual savings.

Algonquin Highlands has 32 telephone and fax lines spread over its properties, and currently pays approximately $25,000 annually for their operation.

According to Bird's report, switching to internet-based calling could reduce that bill to less than $11,000 per year.

Haliburton County has been transitioning some of its lines to VOIP and Bird said there have been some logistical challenges.

"There will be dropped calls," Bird said. However, she said the benefits seem to outweigh drawbacks.

"Obviously, the biggest one is cost savings," Bird said.

The plan is for the Stanhope Airport to be the first location converted to VOIP, and to act as a test site for the township, with other facilities to follow.

Necessary intrusion

IT'S NOT PRETTY, but it's important.

Mandated by the province, the municipalities of Haliburton County are in the process of rolling out septic tank re-inspection programs. The exact process will vary by municipality, each responsible for designing its own program.

In Highlands East, that process got underway this summer, with students visiting properties to assess the type of tank each has. Only those deemed high risk must undergo a lid-off inspection.

In the other three municipalities, the process will be more thorough, with mandatory, lid-off inspections required. Algonquin Highlands has hired a firm that will begin the work starting in 2018. While exact details are still being sussed out in Dysart et al and Minden Hills, those municipalities will also require lid-off inspections of septic tanks be performed.

It is understandable that some residents may not like the idea of local governments poking around on their properties, much less in their septic tanks. In some cases, inspections will reveal that aging systems need to be replaced, representing a not insignificant expense that will likely also be unwelcome.

But it needs to happen. Ultimately, this process is about the community's ecological health and in a place where one can't travel two kilometres in any given direction without encountering a body of water, it's even more important.

Phosphorous is the No. 1 threat to lake health in the county, contributing to the creation of algal blooms that have the ability to drain oxygen from aquatic ecosystems, thereby killing them. Human waste is full of phosphorous and municipalities are full of human waste.

In Minden Hills alone, it's estimated that more than 12 million litres of waste goes into septic tanks each year.

Picture that in terms of plastic, two-litre pop bottles. Wait . . . don't.

The point is, that's a lot of excrement, and not everyone's tanks are going to be up to snuff. On older properties where modern systems have not been installed, it's likely the septic tank is not much more than a metal drum, one that may or may not any longer have a bottom.

Nearly a decade ago, my parents replaced the septic tank at my family's cottage, and I still have nightmares about it to this day.

With the knowledge the inspections are happening, it's clear that some residents are being proactive about the situation, with a number of new systems installed in the neighbourhood this year.

It's messy, in some cases surely unwelcome, but necessary for the preservation of lake health in the Haliburton Highlands.

Hipsters knit their beards.

Duck boat fever

LATELY, AND PERHAPS because of my annual week of duck hunting that just passed, I've had the urge to build myself a specialized duck boat. Specifically, I'm looking at plans to build a Barnegat Bay Sneak Box, which is the '57 Chevy of all duck boats, if you discount the fact that heads do not turn as you drive one by.

The Barnegat Bay Sneak Box is a classic little boat that was first built in the latter half of the 1800s and one that is still being used by a small group of traditional duck hunters today. You can paddle one through very shallow water and it can manage rough water exceptionally for a craft of its small size. Oh, and it is low to the water so you can camouflage it quite easily to blend in with the marsh or your front lawn, if you haven't broke the news to your better half.

The disadvantage is that there are few people who make them, so unless you want to pay big money for a small, specialized boat, you will probably have to find a set of plans and build it yourself.

And therein lies the problem. Ever since Noah's big project, people have viewed homemade boat builders in a very suspicious way.

Tell someone you are building a boat and they immediately wonder if that has anything to do with why you are growing a white beard and wearing a housecoat. For me, it's even worse, since I already have two dogs and two cats.

Even more problematic is once people find out you are going to build a specialized boat designed for duck hunting, they start asking the kind of questions that shouldn't be asked in front of your spouse.

The big one is "Why do you need a duck boat when your canoe or tin boat has done the trick for all this time?"

When someone points out two people haven't spoken to each other for years, this is very likely the reason.

The answer, aside from "Mind your own business!" is you don't need a duck boat. No one needs a duck boat. You want a duck boat.

Plus, building a boat is a lot of fun – which, getting back to Noah, is probably why it was so easy for God to coax him into building one.

Yet, if building a new boat is fun, launching it is nerve-racking – especially if people who know you built it are watching.

I have built two boats that served me well but that's still not enough to remove all doubt. That happens only after a few voyages and no Gilligan's Island. From that point on, you can and will hold court among your friends and throw around terms like "clean-swept chines" and "til-ler." Build enough boats and you'll soon be able to speculate the design changes that should have been incorporated into the Titanic.

In any case, I believe I will start building my duck boat in spring and hopefully complete it by summer. I'll do this because a) I'd like to work out all the bugs regarding motor, oars, performance and use of interior space by next hunting season and b) the water is much warmer in the summer, should I have missed sealing a spot below the waterline.

Mostly, however, this is because I haven't built enough boats yet and there are no icebergs in July.

One paw or another

I AM SITTING ON the deck watching the squirrels skip through the fallen leaves, searching for something to steal. Squirrels are beastly vandals and unrepentant thieves.

At this time of year they have intense interest in the flower gardens. They work surreptitiously and I'm not sure what they are after, but I'll find out when I try to start the chainsaw or the snow blower.

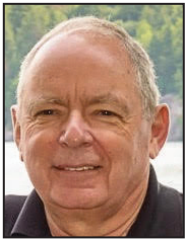

They love to hide their stolen goods in pieces of machinery. One year they stuffed the carburetor of an old snowmobile, which caught fire when I tried to start it.

Another year they chewed two holes in the gas tank of my ATV. I don't know if they were into gas sniffing or just looking for another place to store their little treasures.

As I watch them I notice that they seem to use one paw more than the other. I've noticed this with raccoons, another nimble-fingered thieving species, who appear to do a lot of work with their right paw.

This gets me wondering: do animals, like humans, have a more dextrous side that they prefer for certain tasks? In other words, are some left-pawed and some right-pawed?

Most humans are right-handed. Only 10 per cent are southpaws and more males than females are left handed.

JIM POLING SR.
From Shaman's Rock

So what about the squirrels and other critters of the forest? I consult Professor Google and find an interesting article by two veterinary researchers from James Cook University in Townsville, Australia.

The article was distributed by a news service start-up called The Conversation, which distributes articles from universities in Canada and other countries. The articles are informative, interesting and free to read and use, and can be found on the Internet at <https://theconversation.com/ca>.

The researchers, Janice Lloyd and Richard Squires, write that many animals tend to use one side of the body more than the other. Apes and chimps, for instance, appear to be mainly right-handed.

They say that research shows that most kangaroos are left-pawed. Horses, however, tend to circle right, which seems odd considering that horse racing tracks always seem to circle left.

Favouring one side over another apparently is not exclusive to vertebrates. Snails also have a form of laterality. The shells of some snails spiral in a left-handed direction, while others have a right-handed direction. Snails with left-handed shell spirals can mate only with other lefties and righties only with righties.

Another interesting observation by the researchers is that many animals use the left eye and the left ear for investigating items that are potentially frightening.

You can test whether your pet dog or cat is a southpaw or right-pawed. The researchers say that to test your cat, place a treat inside a glass and see which paw it uses to try to get the treat. You can do a similar test for dogs but any dog I have known goes after a treat with both paws.

If you really have too much spare time you can test your dog to determine the meaning of its tail wagging. Italian researchers did that and concluded that dogs wag their tails to the right when they see something they want to approach and to the left when they see something they want to avoid.

Does it really matter which paw or hoof is dominant in a cat, dog or horse? Apparently so.

Laterality also refers to the primary use of the right or left hemispheres of the brain. Determining laterality could help in breeding and training animals. For instance, information about laterality could help determine which puppies will make the best service dogs. Or, which racing horse will run best on clockwise or counter-clockwise race tracks.

(I thought all horse race tracks were left curved but apparently not. Tracks in England centuries ago all were clockwise but the Americans changed theirs to counter clockwise out of spite during the American Revolution.)

At any rate, my wife says that it does not matter whether squirrels are left- or right-handed. When she sees them skipping through the flower beds she knows they are casing the place for a night time raid for her freshly planted tulip bulbs. And it does not really matter which paw they use to dig them.

letters to the editor

An open letter to the community

We need your help. Plain and simple, there is a crisis looming in child welfare that Children's Aid Societies across our province are facing ... a steady decline in available foster families for the young people who come into our care. Without local foster families to provide safe and nurturing homes, many children and youth will face the prospect of being placed in homes or group homes outside of their communities, leaving them separated from extended family, friends and all important local community resources that are familiar to them.

In 2011/12, the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society had 146 foster homes. As of today, that number has declined to 93 homes. This means that of the 230 children and youth currently in our care, close to 30 of them must reside in group or privately-operated paid foster care which is not associated with our organization. We don't think that is acceptable and neither should you. Sixty per cent of children in care of KHCAS are over the age of 12 years, yet 10 per cent of our current foster homes can support youth and young adults.

You have the power to change this. The goal of our Fostering Changes Futures media campaign, which began this summer, is to recruit 20 approved foster families by the end of March 2018 with six of those families willing to support children over the age of 12. Support services are provided to foster families to assist them to meet the needs of the young people they welcome into their home.

The face of fostering has changed over the years, just as our definition of "family" has continued to evolve. Meeting a young person's needs is our primary focus and so we continually seek additional foster parents who will provide the best possible match for them. That means if you are a professional couple with no children, a family with your own biological children, a same sex couple, a single person or an empty nester, you can apply to become a foster parent and it may be the best thing you ever do.

National Foster Family Week is celebrated from October 15-21 this year. It was an honour to join our resource and child in care teams in celebrating the contributions of foster families on Wednesday, Oct. 18. When children, for whatever reason, are unable to reside with their parents or caretaker, foster families provide stability, love and support. In many circumstances, foster families become life-long supports to vulnerable young people in care. There has never been a better time to make that call to KHCAS as a first step in learning more about fostering. You are not making a commitment by calling, you are just finding out if this is something that could be right for you.

It truly does take a village to raise a child. We must all ask the question: if a child is not able, for any number of reasons, to live at home where should they live? Please call today. Children and youth in need in our community are counting on it.

Lower your risk of stroke

To the Editor,

World Stroke Day is Sunday, Oct. 29. This year's theme is "What's Your Reason for Preventing Stroke." Stroke effects everyone – we all have a reason to prevent it. The effects of stroke on survivors can be devastating to a person's body, mobility and speech, as well as how they think and feel.

Stroke is a leading cause of death and disability globally. It can happen to anyone at any age, and impacts everyone: survivors, family and friends, workplaces and communities. From making individual changes, to advocating globally and locally for policies that will deliver healthier communities, we can all do something to prevent stroke.

Statistics show that globally there are 17 million strokes, 6.5 million deaths, and 26 million survivors. One in six will experience stroke in our lifetime. Ninety per cent of strokes are linked to 10 risks we can do something about.

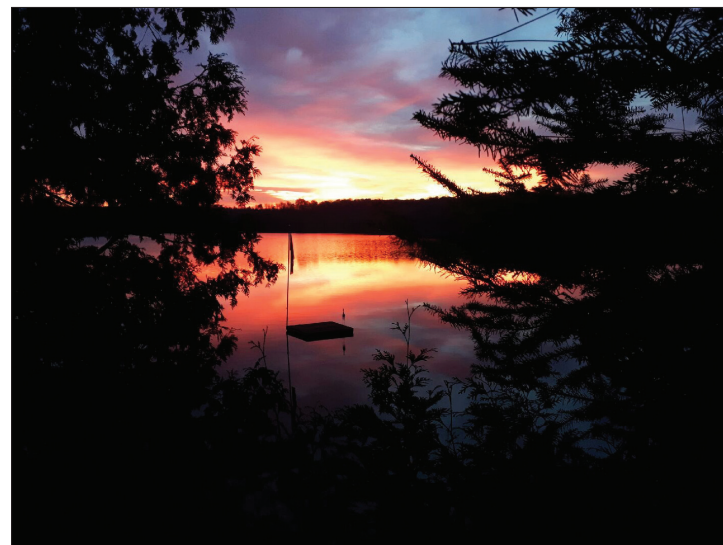

1. Control high blood pressure

2. Do moderate exercises five times a week
3. Eat a healthy, balanced diet (high in vegetables and fruit, low in sodium)
4. Reduce your cholesterol
5. Maintain a healthy BMI or waist to hip ratio
6. Stop smoking and avoid second-hand smoke
7. Reduce alcohol intake (men: 2/day, women: 1/day)
8. Identify and treat atrial fibrillation
9. Reduce your risk from diabetes, talk to your doctor
10. Get educated about stroke

We can all do something to prevent stroke.

The Haliburton Highlands Stroke Support Group is raising the Stroke Recovery Canada/ March of Dimes Canada flag at the Minden Municipal Office Friday, Oct. 27 at 10:30 a.m. Join us to celebrate World Stroke Day.

Prevent breakdowns with battery care

Car batteries can last for five years or more when properly cared for, but many batteries wear down and become inefficient within three years of daily use. Certain factors might offer clues as to how much life vehicle batteries have left.

- Longer start time: A dying battery may cause the engine to crank, but it can be slow to start or not seem to exude a lot of power.

- Cranks but doesn't start: You may turn the key to hear the engine trying to turn over, but it won't. Even if the vehicle eventually starts, have the battery checked and, if necessary, replaced by a mechanic.

- A jump start has been necessary: Batteries that have required a jump or multiple jumps are on their last legs and should be replaced immediately.

- Dim lights or check engine indicator: Batteries power the electric components in a vehicle, so dim lights could be indicative of a loss of power. Having the "check engine" light come on also can be a clue.

- Extreme temperatures: According to Firestone, hot or cold temperatures can shorten a battery's life. If you live in an extreme climate, your battery may not last as long as the manufacturer suggests it should.

- Short driving trips: People who take many short trips (less than 20 minutes each) may find their batteries do not have enough time to fully recharge, shortening their life expectancy.

- Pungent aroma: Leaking and corrosion around the battery terminals can cause battery issues. If there is a rotten egg smell under the hood, it may be a leaking battery on its way to dying.

Drivers can have their vehicle batteries tested by mechanics. Batteries can be replaced at home or at a garage. Servicing the vehicle frequently can prevent performance inefficiencies and help determine if any components are straining the battery and causing premature loss of battery life.

Winter tires are a must Putting winter tires on your vehicle:

- improves traction and control in frost, snow and icy conditions
- shortens braking distances by as much as 25 per cent

You could also get a discount on your auto insurance – ask your insurance provider.

Be sure to install four winter tires – never mix different types of tires on one vehicle.

Check your tires regularly for wear and pressure. Cold weather can bring down your tire pressure, and worn or damaged tires make it harder to drive safely.

How to recognize a winter tire

The easiest way to know a tire has been designed specifically for severe snow conditions is to look for the three-peak mountain snowflake symbol right on the tire.

All-season tires

All-season tires:

- are not the same as winter tires
- can start to lose grip at 7°C

On the road

1. Slow down and stay in control

Many winter collisions happen because drivers are going too fast for road conditions.

Don't use cruise control on wet, snowy or icy pavement – it reduces your reaction time and vehicle control.

Steer gently on curves and in slippery conditions. Hard braking, quick acceleration and sudden gear changes can cause you to skid.

If you do skid, release your brakes and steer in the direction you want to go. Be careful not to steer too far though or the car could spin.

2. Give space

It takes longer to stop on slippery roads – make sure there's extra space between you and other vehicles.

3. Focus and stay alert

Focus on the road. Put down the phone and don't drive distracted.

Pay attention to the road surface. Asphalt in winter should look grey-white. If it looks black and shiny it could be covered in ice. Remember that shaded areas, bridges and overpasses freeze earlier than other sections of road.

4. See and be seen

Use your vehicle's full lighting system in poor visibility and whiteout conditions. If conditions become dangerous, pull over safely and wait for the weather to improve.

Carstar buys collision centre

ROBERT MACKENZIE

Special to the Echo

After bearing the same name for about 20 years, Haliburton's Curry Collision Centre has been sold and rebranded.

This August, Carstar Haliburton opened in the building previously known as the Curry Collision Centre on Industrial Road.

Paul Cross bought the collision centre from Curry Motors owner Bill Campbell earlier this year. According to Cross, the idea to open a collision repair centre in Haliburton came while running his other Carstar location in Lindsay.

"We were getting a lot of customers coming from either the Minden or Haliburton area seeking a reliable, reputable collision repair facility to get work done to their vehicles," Cross said.

Now that it's up and running, Cross hopes his shop will "enhance the collision and glass experience within the Haliburton area and provide a guaranteed warranted work done through the insurance network."

The body shop is not only new in name. After Cross bought the building, he had it fully gutted on the inside and renovated over a period of about 10 weeks. "[The renovation] is just to say to the customers that we have confidence," Cross said. "The optics of your operation is important, to me and the customer."

Protect your vehicle from snow, ice and damage from the cold

While the Canadian Automobile Association notes that winter can wreak havoc on just about every part of a vehicle, there are some parts that seem to bear the brunt of Old Man Winter's abuse. Properly servicing and caring for a car or truck can help.

Drivers should take their vehicles for a tuneup and inspection before wintry weather arrives. A mechanic will examine the car battery and check antifreeze levels and make sure that the thermostat, defroster, brakes, and even wiper blades are working effectively. Have the tires inspected for adequate tread, which can make navigating roads safer. If the treads are worn, replace the tires. Be sure to purchase new winter tires.

In addition to visiting their mechanics, drivers can perform some inspections and fixes themselves.

Scrapers should only be used on windows and not on the body of the car.

- Check that all of the vehicle's lights are operational so your car can be easily seen during inclement weather. Exchange your existing windshield washer fluid with one that will not freeze in cold conditions. Check the nozzles on the windshield-washer system routinely and clear out any blockages of ice or debris. While addressing windshield washer fluid, also replace worn out windshield wiper blades with ones that can withstand snow and icy weather.

- A new coating of wax can serve as a shield against road salt, snow, sleet and rain. Try a polymer wax to protect the paint. Whenever possible, rinse off salt and grime so it does not dry on the car and gradually wear away at the paint. Some drivers mistakenly believe that salt stops being a problem once it dries simply because moisture is the active ingredient for a corrosive reaction. But humidity in the air is enough to keep the salt eating away at the car's paint, and that can contribute to rust. Be sure to rinse off the undercarriage of the vehicle as well.

- Have your tires' alignment checked toward the end of winter or early spring. A season of travelling over pothole-ridden roads or hitting curbs buried under snow drifts can affect the alignment. Get everything back on track. Similarly, inspect tires routinely, as weather changes can affect tire pressure and strength.

- Use a soft snow brush or a foam brush to clear snow off of the car. Avoid hard plastic scrapers you might use on your windshield, as they can scratch painted surfaces.

- Try to park the vehicle in a garage or under a car port, each of which can protect cars and trucks from the often harsh elements of winter.

Vehicles can be affected by the cold weather. Keep them running efficiently to prevent damage this winter.

Internet/phone outage affects customers in Haliburton area

Internet and phone lines were down for Bell customers in parts of Haliburton Village and some surrounding areas last week.

From the late afternoon of Tuesday, Oct. 17 through to Saturday, Oct. 21, service was either absent or spotty for residents and businesses in and around Ingoldsby, Haliburton Village, Donald and points in between.

Haliburton Highlands Health Services put out a press release on Wednesday alerting patients that they lost access to most of their lines, but still had one phone line up and running. The elementary and secondary school as well as Fleming College also lost service.

“A company digging in the area of Highland Street and Lake Avenue cut several major cables that provide Bell telephone and internet services to residential and business customers in the Haliburton area,” Jacqueline Michelis, media relations with Bell, wrote in an email to the paper. About 1,500 customers were affected.

Michelis said crews were at the site working to reconnect customers and as of Friday morning, nearly all were back on-line. Residents were asked to avoid driving in and around the intersection where work was being done.

NFTC, an internet and telephone company, has been installing fibre cable in Haliburton.

“Our team followed our standard procedures to identify existing underground utilities, which involve engaging a third party service provider, but unfortunately the line that was hit was not identified when the locates were done,” said NFTC vice-president Grant Roughley.

“We sincerely regret any disruption or inconvenience that was caused to the community.”

History of the Poppy: Each November, poppies bloom on the lapels and collars of millions of Canadians. The significance of the poppy can be traced back to the Napoleonic Wars in the 19th century, over two years before being adopted in Canada. Records from that time indicate how thick poppies grew over the graves of soldiers in the area of Flanders, France. Fields that had been barren before battle exploded with the blood red flowers after the fighting ended. During the tremendous bombardments of the war, the chalk soils became rich in lime from the rubble, allowing the “popover rheoas” to thrive. When the war ended, the lime was quickly absorbed and the poppy began to disappear again.

Our branch is again having our annual Veterans’ dinner on Nov. 8 to honour the Veterans of Minden Hills. If you have not been contacted, please call the branch at 705-286-4541, and your message will be forwarded to our service officer Al Mayo. Solve-All finds solutions for families

by SUE TIFFIN
Times Staff

Paul MacInnes had a bit of a dilemma on his hands.

After the four-year Love Your Lakes program organized through the Coalition of Haliburton Property Owners' Associations (CHA) ended, he was left with some decent laptops from the project that had been banged up, but with some fine-tuning, would be useable.

So he did the same thing he always does when he encounters a computer issue – he went to Jordan Carrier of Solve-All Computers and Electronics in Kinmount.

Carrier had been his go-to computer guy over the past several years – someone to help with purchasing computers, fixing them when need be and making sure they ran smoothly.

When MacInnes asked Carrier if he thought it might be a good idea to take the laptops, repair them, and donate them to charity, Carrier said he was on board – but that he had been trying to do just that with few takers.

“Before this time we have been taking in old computers to fix up and re-home with families that can use them, but the problem has always been getting the gear to people who actually need them,” Carrier told the paper.

MacInnes's wife, Susan, had an idea. As a director of the board for Point in Time, she thought the computers might benefit both individuals and families using Point in Time services, as well as Point in Time programming.

Lisa Hamilton, a manager for Point in Time, was enthusiastic about the idea. She said for many students, a computer or laptop at home is a necessity for homework, and that they can also be used for students who need quiet time during Point in Time's summer programming. Additionally, Carrier can donate cellphones that might be outdated, but would still give families or kids without home or cellphones the capability to call 911 in the case of an emergency.

“We're always looking for anything to be able to help pass on to families we know can use them,” said Hamilton. “It's a really great, thoughtful idea.”

The first few computers have already been refurbished by Carrier and distributed to families in need through Point In Time.

“People are pretty excited,” said Hamilton. “It's always exciting when you get a call out of the blue saying there's an opportunity for your family.”

MacInnes said he'd like to see companies and organizations who regularly update their hardware, donate their old but good technology to put it to use.

“I see people taking old computers to the dump, and I don't know what kind of shape they're in,” he said. “If they're in good shape, there are people in our community that can use them.”

He credited Carrier as being a great person to work with, as well as an outstanding citizen.

“To me, he's the hero of this story,” said MacInnes. “He's a very busy guy, running his own business, and here he is saying, ‘absolutely, I'll step forward and contribute parts and time.’”

Donations can be dropped off at Solve-All in Kinmount on 4980 Monck Road. At this time, donated desktop computers and laptops should be able to be turned on, and have Windows Vista (2006 or newer) or Mac operating systems (also 2006 or newer). The program is also looking for working monitors, keyboards and mice, laptops, and cell-phones that can be used to dial 911. For more information about donations accepted call Solve-All at 1-844-286-2006.

Red Hawks end regular season winning

by DARREN LUM
Times Staff

Two quick goals in the first half was all that the Red Hawks varsity field hockey team needed to secure their second win of the Kawartha High School Field Hockey League's six-game regular season.

Good timing for the Hawks, who head into playoffs in third place with a 2-0-4 record as a result of the 2-1 victory on Tuesday, Oct. 17 in Haliburton against the league's top team, the St. Peter Catholic Secondary School Saints.

Coach Steve Smith commended his players on their efforts in this game and congratulated them on their consistency to compete all season.

"You're in every game. The whole season long," he said. "They've been in every game. All they had to do was score. They finally found the back of the net [where it hits the board and makes a bang] and that's what I said to them: Do you like that sound? They said, 'yeah.' That's what you have to do."

The team's biggest loss of the season came against Crestwood Secondary School, who won 2-nil. Other than that the team only lost by a goal.

Against the Saints, the Hawks took advantage of their first offensive opportunity, a set play in the opening minutes of the game. From a short-corner taken by the Hawks' (usual stalwart defender) Emily Klose, who joined the offence on the play to send in the ball from out-of-bounds and then got the ball and passed to her teammate Abby Gordon. Gordon took the pass cleanly in-close to the keeper and finished with a low shot for the opening game's goal 1-nil.

Red Hawks player Ali Paul pushes the ball to the St. Peters Catholic Secondary School net with a defender marking her during Kawartha High School Field Hockey League action on Tuesday, Oct. 17 in Haliburton. The Hawks won 2-1 to secure their third place for the Kawartha playoffs (as of Wednesday, Oct. 18) held this past Friday in Peterborough./
DARREN LUM Staff

A few minutes later, the Hawks struck again for an important insurance goal by Hawks rookie player Brittany Bain, who bolstered what Smith has been telling his team, which is to shoot at the net more.

"Shoot. Shoot the ball. You just never know. It was her first goal," he said, referring to the Grade 9 athlete Bain.

Bain's goal came from one the Saints goalie had a strong chance at stopping and would've most likely wanted another chance, as the soft roller along the ground eluded her errant kick attempt.

The Hawks goalkeeper tandem of Danaya MacDuff and Denniella Rivard shared the duties at the back end, taking one half each. They were solid in net for the red and white.

Unlike recent years when the Hawks have finished first (often with undefeated records), this team is rebuilding. Smith has appreciated the progress of the team this season with more than 50 per cent of the roster in their first year playing field hockey. In discussion with his players he expects up to seven Grade 9s on the roster to continue next year with the team.

He wasn't concerned about wins and losses and how it was related to seeding.

"The season on a whole is a development for our team. They're now seeing the fruition of what we've done so second versus third, I'm OK [with that]," he said. "We're in every game so it doesn't really matter which of the teams that we play," he said.

Even with a less than .500 winning percentage, the team was only one win from second place Crestwood Secondary School. The Hurricanes of Holy Cross rounded out the top four teams.

Smith doesn't see the record as an indication of lack of success. In fact, he thinks a bounce here or there and the team could have been at the top of the standings. The most important aspect of this season was to be able to give his players an opportunity for success.

The Saints came into the game short players so Smith said he would rotate players in and out for shifts far shorter than usual.

"I have the bodies so I said we're going to run ... run, run, run and they did really, really well. They've been working on fundamentals and it has been paying off," he said, referring to passing and the execution of set plays such as short-corners and long-corners.

In the second half, Gordon slipped on the field and tweaked her ankle, forcing her to limp off the field and miss the rest of the game. Smith said the Hawks were fully capable of stepping up for her injured veteran. “I’m pretty blessed with the talent that I have on the team and if one goes down we just put in another one. We’ve got bodies. There are a lot of rookies. They will be really, really good like next year and the year after. We’re just fine tuning stuff right now,” he said. The top three from Kawartha will move on to play in COSSA, which is Tuesday, Oct. 24. Note: the results for the Kawartha Championship playoffs came after this story. After losing two regular season games (2-0 and 1-0) to the Crestwood Secondary School Mustangs, Haliburton got their revenge when it mattered, coming through with a 1-0 win in overtime to earn a spot in the Kawartha Championship final on Friday, Oct. 20 at Fleming College in Peterborough. However the Hawks were in tough during the final against the Saints of St. Peter’s Catholic Secondary School. With just 30 minutes between their first and second game, the Hawks were outscored 5-2 and enter the COSSA Championship as the second seed. “All the girls played and played extremely well,” he wrote in a message. The team will play in COSSA at Fleming College in Peterborough in hopes of advancing to the all-provincials. Results were not available at press time.

Jr football team rolls over Rams

by DARREN LUM
Times Staff

There was a lot for the partisan crowd to cheer for on Tuesday, Oct. 17 at the Gary G. Brohman Athletic Field in Haliburton, as the entire Hawks squad from its defence, the special teams to the offence units executed well and often with pressure on the quarterback, swarming tackles and punishing runs up the middle, as well as defence stretching sweeps.

The success was a huge morale boost for the team, said Hawks coach Dan Marsden.

“We have 25 Grade 9s and eight Grade 10s. We’re a young team, but just building on character and heart so just be sure you work hard. Again, limit our mistakes. Mistakes are what gives the other team points sometimes,” he said.

This was the team’s first win since the season opener 2-0 victory on the road against the Fenelon Falls Falcons.

Marsden spoke about how the team’s 32-7 loss at home on Friday, Oct. 13 against the St. Peter Catholic Secondary School Saints didn’t show how close that game really was. That game, he said, could have been closer if not for a touchdown that was called back. Down

1-0 and if the Hawks get those seven points, who knows what could have happened?

It didn’t help that the Saints were finding their success in the air, punctuated by one in a hundred circus-like catches by their receivers.

However Marsden thought the overall performance from the defence to the offence were better this game than others this season.

“The team collectively just played better today,” he said.

There were many positive aspects that solidified the team compared to the rest of the season.

“We didn’t turn the ball over and were able to move the ball and score early ... in other games we’ve had chances, but penalties and dropped balls kind of changed – I’m going to say – the outcome of the game early for us,” he said.

He adds the development of the youngest players has come along nicely.

The team’s mantra in practice has been “get reps, get reps” – running through plays.

“When we get a chance like this with a lopsided win to get more people on the field and get exposure to the game [it helps everyone],” he said.

As of Tuesday, Marsden wasn’t certain about the playoff scenarios. He believes the Hawks will likely need another win to secure a spot in the post-season. The team was in fourth place as of Wednesday, Oct. 18.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Don’t forget to dress up. Treats will be available! For more information please call the Dorset Recreation Centre at 705-766-9968 or recreation@algonquinhighlands.ca.

Did you know that Dorset has a Facebook page? It’s a great place for the community to share photos, sell items and keep everyone informed on upcoming events and it has even helped find a missing dog or two. Check the page out by searching Dorset, Canada. Dorset also has Twitter and Instagram and a brand new website (dorsetcanada.com) which is also a great way to keep people up-to-date with what’s happening in town.

Have you visited the Dorset Parkette located on Highway 35? Surprisingly, there are many people who don’t know it’s there. The parkette has a boat launch with parking area, beach with raft in the summer, picnic tables, grassy areas, two washrooms and a garbage can (for small items, not household garbage). In the winter you can access Little Trading Bay by snowmobile at the beach and in the spring there is a beautiful tulip garden as well as cherry blossom tree. If you haven’t already, be sure to check it out.

Have a happy Halloween and remember to stay safe and always discard suspicious looking candy. Take a cruise down Main Street and Harvey Avenue for trick or treating then head on over to the Rec Centre for more fun and treats!

Happy Birthday to Heather Manuel and Jeff Roberts. For submissions and birthdays please send them to burgesslt@me.com.

In the second game, the Highland Storm A team was up against the Bancroft Jets. This game stayed tied 1-1 after the first period until the last four minutes of the third when the game really picked up. Addison Carr scored two goals followed by a goal by the Jets. Carr scored another and Joshua Scheffe scored but with 25 seconds left the Jets scored making the final 5-3 win for the Storm. In the third game, the Highland Storm A's dominated the Lindsay Muskies AE team with a 9-1 win. Goals scored by Addison Carr, Cheyenne Degeer, Mak Prentice, Brechin Johnston and Colby Coumbs. Goals scored by Brechin Johnston, Austin Latanville, Cheyenne Degeer, Beckam Reynolds, and Addison Carr. Aaron Neave got a shut out. The A finals game was the Highland Storm vs the Bancroft Jets. The first period was all Storm they were making sure to keep it out of their end. The first goal was scored by Brechin Johnston who scored a rebound shot of Cheyenne Degeer. The second goal was scored by Addison Carr who received a stellar pass from Kadin Card and scored. The third goal was an awesome goal by Johnston who took the puck from his blue line all the way to the back of the net. But the Jet's came back with only 25 seconds left of the period and scored. It was a 3-1 hockey game going into the second period. The Storm continued to dominate with Carr scoring his second goal and Johnston scoring his hat trick. The score was 5-1 with one period left. Midget Storm remains dominant

The Highlander and Smolen Family Dentistry Highland Storm Midget team met with the South Muskoka Bears Tuesday, Oct. 17 in Minden. Being short a few players didn't hamper the Storm's winning streak and they scooped up a 5-1 win. The Storm team continues to gel and grow stronger, dominating the game and controlling the play. It began with a solid effort to maintain puck control and the first goal came from a pass by Josh Boice, which landed on the stick of Lucas Haedicke, who found the opening. Next, late in the first, Shawn Walker caught the puck to hold the line and set up a perfect shot that scored the second goal. Seconds later, Owen Smith picked up a pass deep in the Storm's end and zig-zagged his way toward the Bear's net for the third goal. Early in the second period, perfect passes found the stick of Owen Patterson-Smith. He patiently waited for the opening and made it 4-0 for the Storm. The Bears finally took advantage of a power play to make it a 4-1 game. The Storm team held the Bears back and had many scoring opportunities. It was midway through the third period when they pushed hard and made it a 5-1 game. The Midgets' next game is scheduled for Oct. 31 in Minden at 8:30 p.m. where they will take on the Mariposa Lightning.

Bewitching

Four-year-old Jessica Keetch of Minden will be a frightening young lady when she makes her rounds tonight. You'd better have your treats ready or Jessica will cast a spell on you. Jessica modelled her Hallowe'en outfit at the annual Play School party last Thursday.

Lakes, trash main issues for candidates

Water levels and waste management are the two issues that emerged as the dominant points of discussion during all-candidates meetings in Stanhope Township and Anson, Hindon and Minden Saturday night.

Coaxing the federal government to pay more attention to flooding and drought caused annually by the Trent-Severn Waterway is something almost every candidate in the running for seats on these two municipal councils is promising.

A more concentrated focus on the environment and waste management in particular, is another matter on which there is agreement among the majority of candidates in both municipalities.

There were close to 100 people in attendance at the Stanhope Township hall to listen to the platforms of the candidates for council and board of education. Barbara Nangle, Eleanor Harrison, Fred Gardner and Murray Daniels are the four candidates seeking to be elected as councillor. There are only three vacancies for these positions. Harry Davis is acclaimed as Reeve and Ann Barker is uncontested for Deputy Reeve. The two candidates for school board are Leroy Eager and Curtis Eastmure.

The candidates meeting in Minden was not as well attended. There were fewer than 70 people in the audience and a few of the Hallowe'en prank?

Cornerstone is gone

There is a gaping hole in the brickwork at the Staunworth Terrace senior citizens apartments since the cornerstone went missing sometime over the weekend of October 22 and 23.

On October 19, a ceremony was held at the building when the cornerstone was set in place, marking the birth of the third senior citizens complex in Minden. However, the stone was never securely mortared in place and someone managed to steal it from its place in the wall.

John Cowan, who is the site superintendent for this construction project, said the stone was still in place at the end of the day on Friday, October 21. However, when he came back to the site on Monday it was missing.

At first, Cowan said, he thought someone had taken the stone for safe keeping. But when he checked around, no one knew where it was, and he reported it missing to the police.

The stone, which has the inscription "October 19, 1988" is of little monetary value. Its sole purpose is to commemorate the official start of construction on this community project.

Cowan hopes that some parent will find the stone lying around their child's bedroom and return it to the construction site below the arena. He also suspects it might be returned tonight as part of a Hallowe'en prank.

Schools keep morning prayer

Public schools throughout Haliburton County will continue with their traditional opening exercises in spite of the Ontario Court of Appeals' decision to ban compulsory reciting of the Lord's Prayer.

The Haliburton County Board of Education decided last Tuesday to leave its morning exercises unchanged until the Ministry of Education clarifies its position on this court ruling.

The court ruling stems from complaints from Sudbury area parents who challenged that board's practice of reading the put them ahead by three. With Highland Storm battling right back Coles scored assisted by Hall to cut the lead to two again. The Knights were determined to take control of the game and scored two more taking the game 7-3. The Storm faced the Essa Eagles at 12. With both teams putting out feelers there was a lot of battling back and forth action but the game remained scoreless going into the second. The Storm came out with a vengeance and Hall scored, assisted by Avery Degeer. The Eagles came right back less than a minute later and scored to tie it up. Then on a chip in by Gage Hutchinson, Hall picked up the puck and buried it to put the Storm back ahead by one. The Storm held the lead through late in the third but the Eagles managed to tie it up. The Storm gave everything they had, hitting posts and cross-bars, trying to get the win, but the final buzzer went with the game tied at two. Great effort between the pipes by Taylor Consack keeping the team in the game at all times. The Storm went on to face the Tweed Hawks in their final game of the day. The Hawks were on the board first and kept the lead going into the second. Both teams battled back and forth with Storm goalie Damon Harriss making save after save to try to keep his team in the game. The Hawks kept their lead going into the third. The Storm giving all they had to try to tie up the game, with a shot from the point Hall buried the rebound assisted by Degeer. With the Hawks putting on the pressure they scored a goal to put them ahead 2-1. The Storm tried everything they could, pulling the goalie to try to tie the game to advance to Sunday but the Hawks netted an empty netter to win the game 3-1. An excellent effort by all the players. The Peewees head to Millbrook on Oct. 28 to play in the Millbrook tournament.

Pee wee girls defeated by IceKats

The Leveque Brothers/Rock Breakers Pee wee Jets girls lost their home opener on Saturday against the Peterborough

IceKats. The first period was back and forth between blue lines and ended with no score. The IceKats came out strong in the second scoring three. With minutes left in the game Hayley Hudder fired one past Peterborough's goalie with the assist going to Megan Jenkins. The girls are on the road this Saturday against Keene and then back home on Sunday against Lindsay at 4:30.

Bantam girls earn four points over weekend

The Canadian Tire/Parkview Dental Bantam Girls Jets travelled to Keene this past Saturday to take on the Wolverines. The girls played a great game of hockey and it was evident that their hard work at practices, both off and on the ice, are helping them to further develop their hockey skills and come together as a team. Haley Goulet scored early with the first goal of the game, assisted by Avery Coens. The Jets added two more to the scoreboard in the second. Ryan Rupnow, gracefully deked her way past the Wolverines one by one, and the end result was a beautiful left top corner goal in the opponents net, unassisted. Hannah McMann continued the Jets momentum and sniped one past the Wolverines goalie, assisted by Rupnow. In the third, Goulet took a shot from just inside the blue line and the puck slid in, making the final score 4-1 in favour of the Jets. On Sunday, the team hit the road again to face the Ennismore Eagles on their home ice. The Jets took the win 2-0. Goals were scored by Goulet, assisted by McMann, and by Rupnow, unassisted.

Bella Smolen had a stellar performance minding the net for the Jets throughout both games. Way to go girls! Come out and cheer the team on this Saturday, on home ice at 12:30 p.m. as they play Napanee.
